VARIOUS COINS CONNECTED WITH THE EAST.

380 A gold Dinar of the celebrated Saladdin, struck at Alexandria in the year of the Hegira 563, accompanied with an explanation of the legend 1
 381 A ditto of the Khalif Haroun Al-Rashed, with the name of Jaffar as mint master, year of the Hegira 181 1
 382 A silver coin of Tamerlane, and another of his Son and Successor Shah Rokh 2
 383 A silver Dishem, struck at Damascus in the 79th year of the Hegira. Only two other coins of this early date are known to exist, one in the cabinet at Stockholm, the other in the British Museum, from the collection of Mr. Rich, and differing from this in being struck at Cufa. (See Marsden's Oriental Coins, vol. i, page 1; and vol. ii, page 831). The present specimen is in excellent preservation, and the date perfectly clear 1
 384 Another Dirhem, struck at Bussorah in the year of the Hegira 80, being nearly as rare as the preceding, and is the earliest specimen of the mint: it is also equally distinct as the last, and well preserved 1
 385 Two ditto of the year 91 and 97, struck at Waseth, both fine and rare 2
 386 A silver coin of Bohemond, seventh Count of Antioch, struck at Tripolis of Syria, curious and well preserved 1
